

Aerial Gymnastics Club

Pre – School Programs

Aerial Gymnastics Club is owned by Don and Patrice McPherson while The Pre –School program is managed by Tim O’Connell. Tim has designed and managed program throughout the United States. Tim’s programs have delighted children, at the same time assuring parents their kids receive all the advantages of a complete gymnastics program. Kids excel in the high energy, active environment created by well trained teachers. We’re proud to offer a low student-teacher ratio in our classes. Music and movement combine to create a unique and diverse curriculum designed to benefit children -- not only with motor skill development but also with intellectual growth and improved social skills as well as gymnastics basics. We're committed to the total development of your child.

Parent and Tot Classes:

Babies are born explorers, and as a parent, you are their first guide. That's why Mom or Dad participates right alongside their little one in all our Parent and Tot classes. Right from the start, our fun filled classes are packed with activities that develop motor skills, physical fitness and early social skills. In an environment loaded with songs, smiles, bright colors, clapping hands and plenty of encouragement. With the guidance of a trained instructor, parents help their child develop gross motor and pre-gymnastics skills. You and your child can work on a great combination of strength and coordination. With four different skill stations each week, parents are needed to encourage, cheer and assist their children while promoting the development of basic listening skills.

Pre -Beginners Classes:

In this first age where the child participates in class without a parent, building strong physical skills is coupled with basic motor skill development. Following directions, staying with the group and listening to the teacher play an important part, and of course, kids learn while having fun! While building self-confidence, children will develop coordination, body awareness, and gross motor skills through basic gymnastics. Teachers and children will have fun together utilizing all of the equipment.
